Other trading times for these products - including the Pre-Open time, the Daily Close of Trading, and the Daily Settlement Window for Sugar No. 11 contracts - remain unchanged during this period as expressed in NY local times.

This temporary change to the referenced times for these products is due to the end of British Summer Time on October 30, and will last until the end of U.S. Daylight Savings Time on November 6. Traders outside the US should be aware that the end of US Daylight Savings Time and/or British Summer time may impact their local time corresponding to the relevant Pre-Open, Daily Settlement Window and Daily Close of Trading times of any product.

Traders should also be aware that the Daily Settlement Window and Last Trading Day end of trading times for the Gold Daily Futures contract are set using London Times, and that the end of US Daylight Savings time and/or British Summer time may impact their local time corresponding to the Daily Settlement Window and Last Trading Day end of trading times for this product.
